The Labor Knights and Cigarmakers.

Four Hundred and Fifty Tobacco Rollers Protest Against the Dictation at New York.

An Editor Horse-whipped by Temperance Women Whom He Abused.

OPPOSED TO KNIGHT RULE.

The Cigarmakers will not be Governed by the K. of L.

New York, July 28.—The trouble between the Knights of Labor and the Progressive cigarmakers has reached a bitter stage. Two Knights of Labor yesterday entered the cigar factory of Levy Bros., and announced that they would not stick to the Knights of Labor organization, could find employment elsewhere. At this 450 cigar makers left their places and later resolved that as American citizens they would not submit to such dictation and they sent word to the firm (which favors the Knights) that they must be protected in their rights.

WHIPPED AN EDITOR.

Furaged Women Horsewhipped a Journalist.

PITTSBURGH, July 28.—A Petrolia special says: "A sensational horsewhipping occurred at Millerstown about 8 o'clock last evening, in which Peter A. Rattigan, editor and proprietor of the Herald and also present postmaster, figured as the victim. Rattigan, under the head of Butler items, has been reflecting quite severely on the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and those who are identified with the prohibition or temperance element in this county. Yesterday evening, just prior to the hour of closing the postoffice, twelve women, armed with whips, planted themselves near the entrance and awaited their victim's approach. As soon as Rattigan stepped outside the door they began belaboring him and only desisted through exhaustion. Rattigan quietly stood it and offered no resistance."

LAND LEAGUE.

Leaders Talk on the Issues of the Day.

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 28.—At a meeting of the national league here yesterday James Biggar made a speech in which he said there was no reason to feel despondent over anything the conservatives might attempt. The Parnellites, he said, had already unmade two governments and it was not unlikely they would unmake the third.

Mr. John Dillon also addressed the meeting. He said that if coercion should be introduced in Ireland the landlords would have the most cause to regret its introduction. If home rule were offered Ireland would accept the boon, remembering, however, that it was Gladstone who first offered it.

A Fire on the Ocean.

QUARANTINE, L. I., July 28.—The French steamer Labrador, from Havre, arrived at Quarantine this morning and signalled that she was on fire. The wrecking steamer Rescue and the steamboat William Fletcher went to her assistance, beaching her on Owl's Head. The fire was extinguished. The origin and loss are unknown. The passengers were uninjured and are now being transferred with their baggage to the steamboat William Fletcher.

Explorers Starving.

BERLIN, July 28.—Herr Fischer, the African explorer, reports that he has reached Wanga, north of Pangani, with the remnant of his expedition, after a journey of extreme hardship. In the last thirty-two days the members of the expedition suffered severely from hunger.

THE BIG FAIR.

It Secures a Membership in the Middle States Fair Circuit, the Largest in the United States.

The gentlemen of the Fair association held a meeting recently and decided upon holding a fair here this year, notwithstanding the fact that the soldiers reunion precedes it only about two weeks. This decision on the part of the fair managers will be hailed with satisfaction by every citizen of Allen county as well as many in Northern Indiana. The reputation of the Northern Indiana Fair association is second to none in the west, and the principles upon which it has been conducted, ever since the present managers took charge of it, have caused its establishment as one of the annual features of the northern part of the state. Several years ago the fairs usually were not regarded with much favor, and comparatively little interest was manifested in them. This state of affairs was principally the result of bad or at least indifferent management. Premiums were not paid in full and some were not paid at all, the attractions were not presented as advertised, the speed department was allowed to drop to mediocrity and many other things combined to create an apathy among merchants and the citizens generally. When the present management took charge, things made an immediate change. The gentlemen are all men of means and unquestionable integrity. They gave their words that things would be given so and so and pledged their individual purses to support their representations. They had hard and uphill work though just the same. It requires a great deal more work to build up a blasted reputation than to establish one in the first place, and they realized this fact too, as well as any one. Nothing daunted, they put their shoulders to the wheel, and soon things began to move. After the first year's fair, every one was surprised to learn that premiums had been paid in full, and every contract made had been faithfully carried out to the letter. This in face of the fact, which was well known that the total receipts fell far below the premiums paid, created considerable surprise. The following year the same gentlemen, although many dollars out of pocket by the previous year's experience, again went to work, and their labors were better rewarded. They again faithfully fulfilled all their promises, and the reputation of the fair was established. Last year's fair was a grand success in every particular. The exhibits were full and complete, the speed department was exceptionally fine, the special attractions were novel and interesting, and it was voted the best fair ever held in the state.

This year's fair will be a greater surprise than any, and will totally eclipse any similar exhibition ever given in northern Indiana. The projectors have been a working for months and have finally succeeded in getting Fort Wayne entered in the largest fair circuit in the United States and in addition are members of the strongest racing circuit in the west. The fair will hereafter be known as the Inter-State Fair and is a member of the Middle States Fair Circuit. To give an idea of the magnitude and standing of this circuit, THE SENTINEL need only give the dates and names of the other fairs. The circuit comprises Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri. The meetings are to be held as follows:

Lafayette Agricultural association, at Covington, Ky., August 24th to 28th.

Ohio State Fair, at Columbus, Ohio, August 30th to Sept. 3d.

Tri-State Fair, at Toledo, Ohio, September 6th to 11th.

Inter-State fair, at Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 14th to 17th.

Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan Fair association, at South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20th to 24th.

Indiana State Fair, at Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27th to Oct. 2d.

Great St. Louis Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4th to 9th.

It was only by accident that the Fort Wayne or Inter-State Fair became a member of this monster circuit, and it came about in this manner: The Michigan State Fair was a member of the circuit until the last session of the Michigan legislature, when a law was passed prohibiting any cash prizes from being paid to any person outside the state. After the passage of this law, the Michigan state fair was reluctantly obliged to resign its membership. There were a number of applicants for the vacancy, but the Fort Wayne gentlemen, after much hard work, succeeded in securing the membership and are now under the folds of the great circuit. It is not necessary to recount the advantages that the notable fact gives them. They will secure all the great exhibits and will have the finest field of horses ever seen in Indiana. Besides being a member of the Middle States circuit it is also a member of the Central Fall trotting circuit, another big concern. The members of this circuit are Covington, Columbus, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Dayton and South Bend, and they have arranged to have the Fort Wayne meeting fall on the same dates as the fair, namely, September 15, 16 and 17. By this arrangement there will be practically two separate and distinct fields of the best horses in the country here at the same time.

The total amount of premiums to be given by the Middle States circuit amounts to an even $100,000 and the premiums in the Central Fall trotting circuit are $30,000, making altogether a grand total of $130,000 to be given away by the two circuits. The Inter-state premium list is now being distributed, and provides for $8,000 in premiums to be distributed here. People generally have no idea of the immensity of this concern, and THE SENTINEL enlarges upon the subject now to acquaint the people with what they can expect. The managers have perfected all their arrangements for the complete and unprecedented success of their mammoth undertaking. They have secured excursion rates on all railroads and made arrangements for advertising the meeting all over the state and eastern Ohio. The printing is the finest ever gotten out for a similar purpose. All the members of the Middle State circuit will use the same kind of show bills, which includes some specially designed lithographic work that is especially fine. THE SENTINEL will endeavor to keep its readers posted on the different features that will be introduced and will announce them from time to time, as arrangements are perfected. What it wants now to do is to impress upon the minds of its readers the fact that there is a big time coming and to admonish them to prepare for the grandest exhibition ever seen in the state.

I had a schoolmaster once who was a clever and excellent man, but a little mad, and who had a craze about making boys "hardy." He was pleased to fix upon me as a "chilly mortal," and expressed a determination to "make a man of me." The process of manufacture demanded that when I was snuggling over the fire and a book in play-time, I should be driven forth into the bleak and bitter cold "to play." Now, I never could play. At this date, when I am grizzling, I scarcely know a cricket bat from a stump, or a prisoner's base from rounders. I never could throw a ball or catch one properly; and in childhood I was utterly unable to "tuck in my two-penny" at leap-frog or to drive a hoop. So, while a hundred merry lads round me raced and gambled I used to lurk in a corner of the playground and shiver. We had a large bath-room and always with the benevolent idea of "making a man of me" I was put through a bastard course of hydropathy. I declare that in the midst of the most biting winter weather I have undergone the cold douche, the cold shower bath, and the cold sitz; that I have been packed in wet sheets; that I have been made to put a dry pair of socks over a wet pair, and thus accoutred have been ordered to walk from Hamersmith to Kew Bridge, before breakfast, in the dark, to make me "hardy." Unless another boy of the same "hardy" breed was sent with me to see that I went through my training properly, I used to perform the journey from Hamersmith to Kew Bridge by sneaking to the widow Crump's shop at Turnham Green—she sold fruit, toys, periodicals, and sweetstuffs—and sitting by the fire in her little parlor, drinking warm ginger-beer and reading the lives of the pirates and highwaymen.

As it chanced, my good crazy master did not make a man of me. I grew up to be only a sickly, long-legged, weak-kneed youth, with premature pains in the bones, which developed in later years in chronic rheumatism and intermittent neuralgia.—George Augustus Sala, in "Under the Sun."

Solomon in Tennessee.

A certain justice of the peace, who lived in Tennessee, was once trying a negro for stealing. Among the defendant's witnesses was a girl. It was very evident that she was not telling the truth.

The magistrate stopped her in the midst of her testimony and said: "Do you know what you'll go of you swar a lie?"

"Yes, sir," she replied.

"What?"

"I'll goter torment!"

"Torment?"

"You'll goter jail, en from thar you'll goter the plenipotentiary, that's what you'll go!"

During the rest of the trial she spoke the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. For the jail had more terrors for her than "torment."—Detroit Free Press.

HANLON!

Is Rejected By the Senate's Tie Vote.

The President is Entertaining His Mother-in-law at the White House To-day.

A List of Indiana Postmasters Confirmed—The Capitol Gossip To-day.

WASHINGTON.

The President Entertains His Mother-in-law.

Mrs. Folsom, the president's mother-in-law, is a guest at the White house. She arrived this morning and will remain several days.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The senate has, by a tie vote, refused to confirm Thomas Hanlon as collector of the internal revenue for the Seventh Indiana district. His case was under consideration all yesterday afternoon.

The following Indiana postmasters have been confirmed: Daniel W. Krisher, North Manchester; John B. Mitchell, New Albany; H. W. Cook, Michigan City; Joshua Ernest, Sullivan; W. H. Robertson, Tipton; A. S. Sparkes, Mount Vernon; J. A. Boal, Crawfordsville; A. P. Pounds, Danville.

The house of representatives yesterday struck from the river and harbor bill the Hennepin canal, Portage bay and Mississippi river improvement items. When the bill goes to a conference committee of the two houses friends of the Hennepin canal project will endeavor to have the appropriation again inserted.

The house conferred on the legislative appropriation bill, having receded from their position in opposition to the provision for private secretaries to senators, the chief obstacle to complete an understanding in regard to the measure is removed, and it is expected that such an understanding will be reached this afternoon.

At Delphos, Ohio.

THE ANARCHISTS

Told to Arm Themselves for a Fight.

CHICAGO, July 28.—In the anarchists trial August Henn, a printer in the employ of Neheror & Klein, was the first witness. He "set up" a portion of the circular calling for the Haymarket meeting. The witness got a copy from Klein. He got it from the defendant, Fischer, who came to the printing office about 7 o'clock on the morning of the 29th. Fischer wrote the German version; witness is positive he wrote the following: "Workingmen, arm yourselves and appear in full force." On cross-examination the witness said the above line was taken out by 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

A witness named Gelmer testified positively that he saw Spies at the haymarket riot light the fuse which exploded the dynamite bomb. The same witness identified a photograph of Schnaubelt as that of the man who threw the bomb.

Hon. D. W. Voorhees will stump the state of Maine for the democrats. He will rattle up the dry bones in Blaine's country.

The Indiana delegates to the Grand Army encampment at San Francisco left yesterday. The party included General Tom Bennett, of Richmond, department commander; A. O. Vonosdel, Madison, member of the national council of administration; C. E. Whitsett, assistant quartermaster general; J. B. Mulkey, Bloomington; W. H. Holabird, Valparaiso; I. B. Liormont, Princeton, and S. B. A. Conder, Arthur.

A Great Preacher.

In a recent sermon the Rev. Mr. Talmage said: "It is more religious to laugh than to groan. Any one can groan, but it takes a David, a Paul, or a modern heroine to laugh in the midst of persecution."

Mr. Talmage is right, but the average preacher does not teach this doctrine. The groan is revered, the laugh is looked upon with a sneer. Even the fresh laughter of children finds no favor with the "pulpit mope." Circuit riders, those who ride mules and visit remote churches, rarely laugh. When one does laugh you may know that something has occurred. Some time ago while a man was riding along a mountain road, he came upon a circuit rider, who, leaning against a sapling, was laughing uproariously.

"What's the matter?"

"The circuit rider wiped his eyes, and replied."

"I am a circuit rider, and—"

"Yes, but is the position of the circuit rider so amusing?"

"No, it is the first time I have laughed for five years."

"Well, what tickles you so now?"

"Just awhile ago I got off my mule to rearrange the saddle so it wouldn't hurt his back and—haw—haw!"

"Well?"

"Mule kicked at me and fell off the bluff and killed himself. Haw, haw!"

Thus the ice of reserve was broken; and now, having followed up the cheerfulness which the timely death of the mule caused, the preacher holds a high position in the church, and his sermons, which are lively, attract large crowds. In the recent circular issued to circuit riders; the great preacher said:

"My dear brethren, it is necessary you should laugh. I was a groaner for years and profited not by my self-imposed grief. It would pay you all to save up the yarn socks and old clothes which are annually given to you, sell them, buy a mule and shove him off a bluff."—Arkansas Traveler.

She Tried to Be Grammatical.

Little Jane had been repeatedly reproved for saying "I be," instead of "I am." Finally, Aunt Kate made a rule not to answer an incorrect question, but to wait until it was corrected. "Aunt Kate," said Jennie, one day, "please tell me what that is going to be?" But Aunt Kate was busy counting in her knitting, and did not answer. "Fatal word be? It was her old enemy, and to it alone could the child ascribe the silence that followed. "Aunt Kate," she persisted, with an honest attempt to correct her mistake, "please tell me what that is going to am?" Still auntie sat silently counting, though her lip curled with amusement. Jane sighed, but made another patient effort. "Will you please tell me what that is going to be?" Aunt Kate counted on, perhaps by this time actuated by a wicked desire to know what would come next. The little girl gathered her energies for one last and great effort. "Aunt Kate, what am that going to be?"

EXPERIENCE begets wisdom. It is only once in a lifetime that the corpulent man hires a fourth-floor apartment in a house where there is no elevator simply because he can get it cheap.

As the delivery dray of the firm of Huestis & Co., the wholesale grocers, was being backed up to unload goods at the grocery of Henry Ruppel, on the corner of East Wayne and Francis street last evening, it was accidentally overturned, landing the load, driver and a companion into the gutter. About all the damage done was the spilling of a barrel of sugar, a portion of which was, however, saved. The balance was left for a feast for the children of the neighborhood. Among them was a little son of Frank Casso. A companion, to play a joke, rolled a piece of unslacked lime into the sugar and gave it to him. He ate it and immediately began to scream.
Dr. J. W. Younge was sent for and soon relieved the lad's stomach of the burn-the Lake Shore road, with a view of adjusting the Nickel Plate affairs. At the office of Drexel Morgan & Co., in New

MOVING ALONG.

The Sky Shines Bright for a Grand Fair.

The Fair association did everything in their power to change its date, so that the fair and reunion might be held on the same week. But it was found impossible. The work was commenced too late to change dates and keep in the circuit. Without the circuit, the fair would not be a success. The fair association are trying to do everything in their power for the good of the city and county and if the dates could have been changed without crippling the fair they would have cheerfully done so. The reunion people have an idea that the Fair association are at enmity with them. This is a mistake. The Fair association will do anything to assist any enterprise that will help the business interests of our city. The fair promises to be the best ever held here. Mr. Reed, of Toledo, secretary of the circuit, says the prospects are very bright for the finest display of horses and cattle ever known since the organization of the circuit.

ARRAIGNED FOR ARSON.

Fred C. Reid Says "Not Guilty" and is Released on Bail
—Hewitt's Case.

A great crowd stood in front of the calaboose this morning to get a glimpse of Fred C. Reid, who is charged with conspiring with Wm. Hewitt to set fire to the store of Kyle & Reid. Mr. Reid walked out of his cage and bowed to his friends en route to Justice France's court. His attorney, J. B. Harper, appeared for him and said "not guilty" for the client. Justice France fixed next Monday morning as the time of trial and Reid was released on $500 bail with Stephen
A. Burrows, Chas. E. Bond, Robert S.
Knobe and Wm. Tourge as bondsmen for his appearance for trial at the time stated. Reid smiled, a few of his friends shook his hands warmly and congratulated him.

Wm. Hewitt, at the request of his attorneys, Colerick & Oppenheim, was not taken out of jail. He will have a hearing Monday morning also.

Captain Diehl came in last night with Reid and he made this statement:

"Yes, I have heard what Hewitt says about my paying him $100 to burn the store. I cannot imagine why he should talk so. I went to Chicago Saturday night in order to hear my pastor, Rev.
Mr. Northrop, preach in the first Baptist church of that city, as I had promised him five weeks ago I would come up when he was there. That is Rev. Dr.
Hensil's church. I took my clerk Ropa along because he wanted to hear his pastor, too. I gave my key to Hewitt and engaged him to come down to the store
Sunday morning to put out the light that had burned all night and also to light it again Sunday night. This is all I had to do with him in connection with the store and if he has done as it is charged he has he done it on his own responsibility.

Yes sir, my stock is insured for $2,000, and the statement of stock on hand I sent my partner July 1, footed up $2, 600. Of course that has been reduced some since then. Yes, I did offer to sell the entire stock to Pixley & Co. for $750, but that was last winter. Rev. Mr.
Northrop rented one-half our store when we were on the other side to the man Hewitt. He done it while I was east, as I put my business in his charge. I have been doing a good business since we moved across the street. I had a telegram this evening from my partner, asking me how about the report of my arrest that he had seen in the papers. I replied that I would write in a day or two. I shall make a vigorous fight against this unjust arrest. I did not know what I was arrested for until Captain Diehl came this morning. Hewitt is not a drinking man but I think he is crazy."

The affidavits charge Reid and Hewitt with "attempted arson" and public opinion is divided as to Reid's guilt.
Hewitt is looked on as almost insane.

The Labor Knights and Cigarmakers.

Four Hundred and Fifty Tobacco Rollers Protest Against the Dictation at New York.

An Editor Horse-whipped by Temperance Women Whom He Abused.

OPPOSED TO KNIGHT RULE.

The Cigarmakers will not be Governed by the K. of L.

New York, July 28.—The trouble between the Knights of Labor and the Progressive cigarmakers has reached a bitter stage. Two Knights of Labor yesterday entered the cigar factory of Levy Bros., and announced that thenceforth they would not stick to the Knights of Labor organization, could find employment elsewhere. At this 450 cigar makers left their places and later resolved that as American citizens they would not submit to such dictation and they sent word to the firm (which favors the Knights) that they must be protected in their rights.

WHIPPED AN EDITOR.

Enraged Women Horsewhipped a Journalist.

Pittsburg, July 28.—A Petrolia special says: "A sensational horsewhipping occurred at Millertown about 8 o'clock last evening, in which Peter A. Rattigan, editor and proprietor of the Herald, and also present postmaster, figured as the victim. Rattigan, under the head of Butler items, has been reflecting quite severely on the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and those who are identified with the prohibition or temperance element in this county. Yesterday evening, just prior to the hour of closing the postoffice, twelve women, armed with whips, planted themselves near the entrance and awaited their victim's approach. As soon as Rattigan stepped outside the door they began belaboring him and only desisted through exhaustion. Rattigan quietly stood it and offered no resistance."

LAND LEAGUE.

Leaders Talk on the Issues of the Day.

Dublin, Ireland, July 28.—At a meeting of the national league here yesterday James Biggar made a speech in which he said there was no reason to feel despondent over anything the conservatives might attempt. The parallels, he said, had already unmade two governments and it was not unlikely they would unmake the third.

Mr. John Dillon also addressed the meeting. He said that if coercion should be introduced in Ireland the landlords would have the most cause to regret its introduction. If home rule were offered Ireland would accept the boon, remembering, however, that it was Gladstone who first offered it.

A Fire on the Ocean.

QUARANTINE, L. I., July 28.—The French steamer Labrador, from Havre, arrived at Quarantine this morning and signalled that she was on fire. The wrecking steamer Rosona and the steamboat William Fletcher went to her assistance, beaching her on Owl's Head. The fire was extinguished. The origin and loss are unknown. The passengers were uninjured and are now being transferred with their baggage to the steamboat William Fletcher.

Explorers Starving.

Berlin, July 28.—Herr Fischer, the African explorer, reports that he has reached Wanga, north of Pangani, with the remnant of his expedition, after a journey of extreme hardship. In the last thirty-two days the members of the expedition suffered severely from hunger.

THE BIG FAIR.

It Secures a Membership in the Middle States Fair Circuit, the Largest in the United States.

The gentlemen of the fair association held a meeting recently and decided upon holding a fair here this year, notwithstanding the fact that the soldiers' remission precedes it only about two weeks. This decision on the part of the fair managers will be hailed with satisfaction by every citizen of Allen county as well as many in Northern Indiana. The reputation of the Northern Indiana Fair association is second to none in the west, and the principles upon which it has been conducted, ever since the present managers took charge of it, have caused its establishment as one of the annual features of the northern part of the state. Several years ago the fair was usually not regarded with much favor, and comparatively little interest was manifested in them. This state of affairs was principally the result of bad or at least indifferent management. Premiums were not paid in full and some were not paid at all, the attractions were not presented as advertised, the speed department was allowed to drop to mediocrity and many other things combined to create an apathy among merchants and the citizens generally. When the present management took charge, things made an immediate change. The gentlemen are all men of means and unquestionable integrity. They gave their words that things would be given in full and so pledged their individual purses to support their representations. They had hard and uphill work though just the same. It requires a great deal more work to build up a blasted reputation than to establish one in the first place, and they realized this fact too, as well as any one. Nothing daunted, they put their shoulders to the wheel, and soon things began to move. After the first year's fair, every one was surprised to learn that premiums had been paid in full, and every contract made had been faithfully carried out to the letter. This in face of the fact, which was well known, that the total receipts fell far below the premiums paid, created considerable surprise. The following year the same gentlemen, although many dollars out of pocket by the previous year's experience, again went to work, and their labors were better rewarded. They again faithfully fulfilled all their promises, and the reputation of the fair was established. Last year's fair was a grand success in every particular. The exhibits were full and complete, the speed department was exceptionally fine, the special attractions were novel and interesting, and it was voted the best fair ever held in the state.

This year's fair will be a greater surprise than any, and will totally eclipse any similar exhibition ever given in northern Indiana. The projectors have been working for months and have finally succeeded in getting Fort Wayne entered in the largest fair circuit in the United States and in addition are members of the strongest racing circuit in the west. The fair will hereafter be known as the Inter-State Fair and is a member of the Middle States Fair Circuit. To give an idea of the magnitude and standing of this circuit, THE SENTINEL need only give the dates and names of the other fairs. The circuit comprises Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri. The meetings are to be held as follows:

Lutonia Agricultural association, at Covington, Ky., August 24th to 26th.
Ohio State Fair, at Columbus, Ohio, August 30th to Sept. 3d.
Tri-State Fair, at Toledo, Ohio, September 6th to 11th.
Inter-State fair, at Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 14th to 17th.
Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan Fair association, at South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20th to 24th.
Indiana State Fair, at Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27th to Oct. 2d.
Great St. Louis Fair, at St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4th to 9th.

It was only by accident that the Fort Wayne or Inter-State Fair became a member of this monster circuit, and it came about in this manner: The Michigan State Fair was a member of the circuit until the last session of the Michigan legislature, when a law was passed prohibiting any cash prizes from being paid to any person outside the state. After the passage of this law, the Michigan state fair was reluctantly obliged to resign its membership. There were a number of applicants for the vacancy, but the Fort Wayne gentlemen, after much hard work, succeeded in securing the membership and are now under the folds of the great circuit. It is not necessary to recount the advantages that the notable fact gives them. They will secure all the great exhibits and will have the finest field of horses ever seen in Indiana. Besides being a member of the Middle States circuit it is also a member of the Central Fall trotting circuit, another big concern. The members of this circuit are Covington, Columbus, Toledo, Fort Wayne, Dayton and South Bend, and they have arranged to have the Fort Wayne meeting fall on the same dates as the fair, namely, September 15, 16 and 17. By this arrangement there will be practically two separate and distinct fields of the best horses in the country here at the same time.

The total amount of premiums to be given by the Middle States circuit amounts to an even $100,000 and the premiums in the Central Fall trotting circuit are $30,000, making altogether a grand total of $130,000 to be given away by the two circuits. The Inter-state premium list is now being distributed, and provides for $8,000 in premiums to be distributed here. People generally have no idea of the immensity of this concern, and THE SENTINEL enlarges upon the subject now to acquaint the people with what they can expect. The managers have perfected all their arrangements for the complete and unprecedented success of their mammoth undertaking. They have secured exemption rates on all railroads and made arrangements for advertising the meeting all over the state and eastern Ohio. The printing is the finest ever gotten out for a similar purpose. All the members of the Middle States circuit will use the same kind of show bills, which includes some specially designed lithographic work that is especially fine. THE SENTINEL will endeavor to keep its readers posted on the different features that will be introduced and will announce them from time to time, as arrangements are perfected. What it wants now to do is to impress upon the minds of its readers the fact that there is a big time coming, and to admonish them to prepare for the grandest exhibition ever seen in the state.

Making a Man of Him.

I had a schoolmaster once who was a clever and excellent man, but a little mad, and who had a craze about making boys "hardy." He was pleased to fix upon me as a "chilly mortal," and expressed a determination to "make a man of me." The process of manufacture demanded that when I was snuggling over the fire and a book in playtime, I should be driven forth into the bleak and bitter cold "to play." Now, I never could play. At this date, when I am grizzling, I scarcely know a cricket bat from a stump, or a prisoner's base from rounders. I never could throw a ball or catch one properly; and in childhood I was utterly unable to "tuck in my two-penny" at leap-frog or to drive a hoop. So, while a hundred merry lads round me raced and gambled I used to lurk in a corner of the playground and shiver. We had a large bath-room and always with the benevolent idea of "making a man of me" I was put through a baptism of cold water. I declare that in the midst of the most biting winter weather I have undergone the cold douche, the cold shower bath, and the cold sitz; that I have been packed in wet sheets; that I have been made to put a dry pair of socks over a wet pair, and thus accoutred have been ordered to walk from Hamersmith to Kew Bridge, before breakfast, in the dark, to make me "hardy." Unless another boy of the same "hardy" breed was sent with me to see that I went through my training properly, I used to perform the journey from Hamersmith to Kew Bridge by sneaking to the widow Crump's shop at Turnham Green—she sold fruit, toys, periodicals, and sweetstuffs—and sitting by the fire in her little parlor, drinking warm ginger-beer and reading the lives of the pirates and highwaymen.

As it chanced, my good crazy master did not nuke a man of me. I grew up to be only a sickly, long-legged, weak-kneed youth, with premature pains in the bones, which developed in later years in chronic rheumatism and intermittent neuralgia.—George Augustus Sala, in "Under the Sun."

Solomon in Tennessee.

A certain justice of the peace, who lived in Tennessee, was once trying a negro for stealing. Among the defendant's witnesses was a girl. It was very evident that she was not telling the truth. The magistrate stopped her in the midst of her testimony and said: "Do you know what you'll go of you swear a lie?" "Yes, sir," she replied. "What?" "If I goter torment!" "Torment?" You'll goter jail, on from that you'll goter the plantation, that's what you'll go!" During the rest of the trial she spoke the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. For the jail had more larders for her than "torment."—Detroit Free Press.

HANLON!

The President is Entertaining His Mother-in-law at the White House To-day.

A List of Indiana Postmasters Confirmed—The Capitol Gossip To-day.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The naval committee of the senate this morning amended the house bill to increase the naval establishments by striking out provisions which authorize the purchase of armor or machinery abroad and in this form the measure was reported to the senate.

Mrs. Folsom, the president's mother-in-law, is a guest at the WHITE HOUSE. She arrived this morning and will remain several days.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The senate has, by a tie vote, refused to confirm Thomas Hanlon as collector of the internal revenue for the Seventh Indiana district. His case was under consideration all yesterday afternoon.

The following Indiana postmasters have been confirmed: Daniel W. Krisher, North Manchester; John B. Mitchell, New Albany; H. W. Cook, Michigan City; Joshua Ernest, Sullivan; W. H. Evans, Princeton; H. Freygang, Angola; W. P. Hale, Peru; J. W. Jones, Cambridge City; S. T. Major, Shelbyville; W. G. Morris, Frankfort; John Neff, Winchester; G. R. Reynolds, Plymouth; R. M. Robertson, Tipton; A. S. Sparkes, Mount Vernon; J. A. Boal, Crawfordsville; A. P. Pound, Danville.

The house of representatives yesterday struck from the river and harbor bill the Honnepin canal, Portage bay and Mississippi river improvement items. When the bill goes to a conference committee of the two houses friends of the Honnepin canal project will endeavor to have the appropriation again inserted.

The house conferred on the legislative appropriation bill, having receded from their position in opposition to the provision for private secretaries to senators, the chief obstacle to complete an understanding in regard to the measure is removed, and it is expected that such an understanding will be reached this afternoon.

At Delphos, Ohio.

DELPHOS, July 28.—Weger & Davis' stove factory, together with its contents, was totally destroyed by fire this afternoon, involving a loss of $2,000; insured in the Fargo, of Fargo, Dakota, Monarch, of New Orleans, and Des Moines for $1,800, equally divided.

The Corn Market.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The corn market was active and started in at 45½c for No. 2 export, or higher than at the close last night. It rose to 46½c on continued reports of hot weather, but has fallen off again to 46½c.

Dangerous Fever.

REARING, July 28.—The mysterious epidemic among the Glasgow iron companies' employees at Patterson continues. The cases now number nearly seventy-five. All have symptoms of typhoid fever.

THE ANARCHISTS

Told to Arm Themselves for a Fight.

CHICAGO, July 28.—In the anarchists' trial August Henn, a printer in the employ of Neherer & Klein, was the first witness. He "set up" a portion of the circular calling for the Haymarket meeting. The witness got a copy from Klein. He got it from the defendant, Fischer, who came to the printing office about 7 o'clock on the morning of the 29th. Fischer wrote the German version; witness is positive he wrote the following: "Workingmen, arm yourselves and appear in full force." On cross-examination the witness said the above line was taken out by 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

A witness named Gelmer testified positively that he saw Spies at the Haymarket riot light the fuse which exploded the dynamite bomb. The same witness identified a photograph of Schnabel as that of the man who threw the bomb.

Hon. D. W. Voorhees will stamp the state of Maine for the democrats. He will rattle up the dry bones in Blaine's country.

The Indiana delegates to the Grand Army encampment at San Francisco left yesterday. The party included General Tom Bennett, of Richmond, department commander; A. O. Vossel, Madison, member of the national council of administration; C. E. Whitsett, assistant quartermaster general; J. B. Mulkey, Bloomington; W. H. Holabird, Valparaiso; I. B. Littermont, Princeton, and S. B. A. Conder, Arthur.

A Great Preacher.

In a recent sermon the Rev. Mr. Talmage said: "It is more religious to laugh than to groan. Any one can groan, but it takes a David, a Paul, or a modern heroine to laugh in the midst of persecution." Mr. Talmage is right, but the average preacher does not teach this doctrine. The groan is reversed, the laugh is looked upon with a sneer. Even the fresh laughter of children finds no favor with the "pulpit mope." Circuit riders, those who ride mules and visit remote churches, rarely laugh. When one does laugh you may know that something has occurred. Some time ago while a man was riding along a mountain road, he came upon a circuit rider, who, leaning against a sapling, was laughing uproariously.

"What's the matter?" The circuit rider wiped his eyes, and replied: "I am a circuit rider, and—" "Yes, but is the position of the circuit rider so amusing?" "No, it is the first time I have laughed for five years."

"Well, what luckies you so now?" "Just awhile ago I got off my mule to rearrange the saddle so it wouldn't hurt his back and—haw—haw!"

"Well?" "I took off the—to be, he—saddle off and just as I went to put it on the mule—he, he—"

"Well?" "Mule kicked at me and fell off the bluff and killed himself. Haw, haw!" Thus the ice of reserve was broken; and now, having followed up the cheerfulness which the timely death of the mule caused, the preacher holds a high position in the church, and his sermons, which are lively, attract large crowds. In the recent circular issued to circuit riders, the great preacher said:

"My dear brethren, it is necessary you should laugh. I was a groaner for years and profited not by my self-imposed grief. It would pay you all to save up the yarn socks and old clothes which are annually given to you, sell them, buy a mule and shove him off a bluff."—Arkansas Traveler.

She Tried to Be Grammatical. Little Nell had been repeatedly reproved for saying "I be," instead of "I am." Finally, Aunt Kate made a rule not to answer an incorrect question, but to wait until it was corrected.

"Aunt Kate," said Jennie, one day, "please tell me what that is going to be?" But Aunt Kate was busy counting in her knitting, and did not answer. "Aunt Kate," she persisted, with an honest attempt to correct her mistake, "please tell me what that is going to be?" Still Aunt Kate sat silently counting, though her lip curled with amusement. Jane sighed, but made another patient effort. "Will you please tell me what that is going to be?" Aunt Kate counted on, perhaps by this time actuated by a wicked desire to know what would come next. The little girl gathered her energies for one last and great effort. "Aunt Kate, what am I going to be?"

EXPERIENCE begets wisdom. It is only once in a lifetime that the corpulent man hires a fourth-floor apartment in a house where there is no elevator simply because he can get it cheap.

John A. Scott is about the state posting bills to humbug people with an advertisement that Gen. John A. Logan and Col. Bob Ingersoll are to come here. Scott can kill anything he likes by recommending it.

As the delivery day of the firm of Huestis & Co., the wholesale grocers, was being backed up to unload goods at the grocery of Henry Ruppel, on the corner of East Wayne and Francis street last evening, it was accidentally overturned, landing the load, driver and a companion into the gutter. About all the damage done was the spilling of a barrel of sugar, a portion of which was, however, saved. The balance was left for a feast for the children of the neighborhood. Among them was a little son of Frank Casco. A companion, to play a joke, rolled a piece of unlabeled lime into the sugar and gave it to him. He ate it and immediately began to scream. Dr. J. W. Young was sent for and soon relieved the lad's stomach of the burning substance and a sort of internal volcano, for the moment the lime met a moist substance it began to boil.

MOVING ALONG.

The Sky Shines Bright for a Grand Fair.

The Fair association did everything in their power to change its date, so that the fair and reunion might be held on the same week. But it was found impossible. The work was commenced too late to change dates and keep in the circuit. Without the circuit, the fair would not be a success. The fair association are trying to do everything in their power for the good of the city and county and if the dates could have been changed without crippling the fair they would have cheerfully done so. The reunion people have an idea that the Fair association are at enmity with them. This is a mistake. The Fair association will do anything to assist any enterprise that will help the business interests of our city. The fair promises to be the best ever held here. Mr. Reed, of Toledo, secretary of the circuit, says the prospects are very bright for the finest display of horses and cattle ever known since the organization of the circuit.

ARRAIGNED FOR ARSON.

Fred C. Reid Says "Not Guilty" and is Released on Bail.—Hewitt's Case.

A great crowd stood in front of the calaboose this morning to get a glimpse of Fred C. Reid, who is charged with conniving with Wm. Hewitt to set fire to the store of Kyle & Reid. Mr. Reid walked out of his cage and bowed to his friends en route to Justice Franco's court. His attorney, J. B. Harper, appeared for him and said "not guilty" for the client. Justice Franco fixed next Monday morning as the time of trial and Reid was released on $500 bail with Stephen A. Burrows, Chas. B. Bond, Robert S. Knobe and Wm. Tourge as bondsmen for his appearance for trial at the time stated. Reid smiled, a few of his friends shook his hands warmly and congratulated him.

Wm. Hewitt, at the request of his attorneys, Colerick & Oppenheim, was not taken out of jail. He will have a hearing Monday morning also.

Captain Diehl came in last night with Reid and he made this statement:

"Yes, I have heard what Hewitt says about my paying him $100 to burn the store. I cannot imagine why he should talk so. I went to Chicago Saturday night in order to hear my pastor, Rev. Mr. Northrop, preach in the first Baptist church of that city, as I had promised him five weeks ago I would come up when he was there. That is Rev. Dr. Hewitt's church. I took my clerk Ropa along because he wanted to hear his pastor, too. I gave my key to Hewitt and engaged him to come down to the store Sunday morning to put out the light that had burned all night and also to light it again Sunday night. This is all I had to do with him in connection with the store and if he has done as it is charged he has done it on his own responsibility.

Yes sir, my stock is insured for $2,000, and the statement of stock on hand I sent my partner July 1, footed up $2,600. Of course that has been reduced some since then. Yes, I did offer to sell the entire stock to Pixley & Co. for $750, but that was last winter. Rev. Mr. Northrop rented one-half our store when we were on the other side to the man Hewitt. He done it while I was east, as I put my business in his charge. I have been doing a good business since we moved across the street. I had a telegram this evening from my partner, asking me how about the report of my arrest that he had seen in the papers. I replied that I would write in a day or two. I shall make a vigorous fight against this unjust arrest. I did not know what I was arrested for until Captain Diehl came this morning. Hewitt is not a drinking man but I think he is crazy."

The affidavit charge Reid and Hewitt with "attempted arson" and public opinion is divided as to Reid's guilt. Hewitt is looked on as almost insane. A rank snoker from Lima was here yesterday, looking for his wife who had eloped with a fellow she loved better. He engaged Geo. Swain's hook and rode about town, but did not get the woman. Tony Trentman's little baby boy is quite sick.
